

Moving Together 2005 Conference

Cooperative Collaboration for Pedestrian Safety

This workshop explores how multi-agency problem solving can establish the foundation for a federal grant for pedestrian safety. Working as a team, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst Police Department, the University of Massachusetts College of Civil Engineering, and others, received a grant for pedestrian safety that includes education and enforcement, and development of a training program regarding these issues. From data analysis and engineering design, to Judicial Review, to education and enforcement, we will demonstrate how a collaborative effort is beneficial to all.
